About the Arranger

Eugénie Ricau Rocherolle becomes a friend to many pianists through her piano music. Her warm, creative musical style reflects her personality. She composes mostly by improvising at the piano, beginning with a basic topic or theme, and striving for contrast, humor, catchy rhythms, and good melodies with appealing harmonies.

Mrs. Rocherolle grew up in one of this country's prominent French areas—New Orleans. She spent her college junior year in Paris, where she had a class with Nadia Boulanger. Coming home on the boat from Paris, Eugénie met a young Frenchman who was returning to his home in the United States after a year in France. They married a few years later. In their rural Connecticut home they have raised their daughter and three sons, and are now enjoying grandchildren!
